The institute Stiftung Warentest was founded in 1964 through a resolution from the lower house of the german parliament. The reason was to support the consumers, with comparative tests of goods and services, in an independent and objective way. In the magazine Test 5/2005 nine laminate flooring were tested and the Wellness Floor became the test winner and had the assessment grade „good“ (1,6). Wellness floor also received a „very good“ (1,2) grade for the durability assessment!
